

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

- 5 A method of connecting to a radiocommunication network a terminal which is in a standby mode because of temporary unavailability of the signal from the network includes a step of periodically scanning frequencies of the radiocommunication network using one or more sequences each associated with a predetermined list of frequencies selected from all the frequencies.

T06250 00929260